This COP covers the time period:

We strive to exceed the expectations
to our general business attitude

FOREWORD BY THE CEO

Our culture embodies deep-seated traditions for craftsmanship and unique adaptability to individual customer needs.

Ever since the very beginning in 1971, it lies within our roots to increase the quality of our performance by integrating social and environmental considerations into all our activities. This part of our DNA and ongoing efforts, we have intensified in 2014.

Since our engagement in the UN Global Compact, we have - among many other activities - based a large part of our environmental concern on the ten universally accepted principles in the areas of human rights, labor, environment and anti-corruption.

Within a relatively concentrated time, we have carried out a thorough internal analysis of our capacity, control, achievements and challenges within the above mentioned areas, as well as our current position as an international company aiming for continuous innovation and improvements.

During 6 months we worked on a complete CSR-analysis of our global organisation, and it is with a certain pride of our company and our employees, that I have, through the whole process, been confirmed of a very solid basis for our future CSR-strategy and daily environmental concern.

A lot of various activities and achievements supported our CSR-endeavours and philosophy during the first "introduction-year" with the UN Global Compact:

Both our factories in Denmark and Poland were ISO 9001-certified. A specific CSR-declaration was formulated and implemented, as well as the overall CSR policy and strategy was signed by the executive board and company owners and enrolled throughout the organisation. We formulated and implemented a complete new Code of Conduct and have initiated the introduction of this to our purchase dept. and are ready to pass the UN Global Compact principles further on to our sub-suppliers and other cooperation partners.

Together with local municipalities, we constantly try to find new ways to activate/hire vulnerable employees with certain challenges or needs - young workers, disabled, flex-timers, refugees, a.o.

With our best and closest partners, we are continuously taking 'environmentally friendly products' into the next level in 'water management', 'Low emission', re-cycling and other development projects. In our factories, we have invested further in new technologies to lower our material use and reduce energy waste.

Generally I believe that - not by force - but through collaboration and education in the supply chain and among other partners, we can influence and, together - improve practices and mentalities to a better society. We are not there yet - but definitely on the right track, to which you will hopefully agree after reading this - our first Communication on Progress.

Bramming,

I. HUMAN RIGHTS & LABOUR

BPI supports and respects the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and promotes human rights standards internally and throughout all business.

Equal opportunities for all employees irrespective of gender or ethnicity continue to be part of our HR-philosophy and humanity attitude.

We hire, remunerate and promote employees on the basis of skills, competences and performance – not according to gender, religion nor race.

During 2014/15 we have initiated and achieved the following actions

- a. In early 2015 we prepared a complete new detailed Code of Conduct with thorough description of main areas within human rights, labour and environment, a.o. The Code of Conduct is to a large extent based on The Ten Principles of the UN Global Compact and is currently being implemented widely in the organisation and our factories, as well as with our sub-suppliers in the second stage
- b. During 2014/15 we had students from different countries for longer internships and cooperated closely with local universities and jobcenters to integrate people with other ethnic backgrounds
- c. Guided tours for schools as part of their educational programmes and supporting science or innovation initiatives from universities, research institutes or other development foras, where the ambition is "a better world" or environmental friendly products
- d. In both our factories, we are cooperating with local municipalities to engage people with certain needs or challenges
- e. On a frequent basis, we offer surplus products or sponsorships to schools or institutions
- f. In 2014 our contingency plan and employee Handbook has been re-evaluated and updated

The company engages in targeted and systematic efforts to continuously protecting the environment through energy and material optimization, pollution prevention, waste minimization and environmental management.

In 2014/15 we took the following steps:

- a. Introduction of new halogen-free and flame retardant foam qualities

- d. Implementation of external audit in both our factories to test and control, that all environmental laws and working area regulations are being monitored and followed
- e. Continuously in a proces of exchanging existing chemicals with environmentally friendly low-emission additives
- f. 'Water management-project' with one of our main cooperation partners
- g. Investments in further automation to reduce water waste
- h. Increase of recyclable foam waste

Outcome

Improved working environment, reduced energy consumption and less negative environmental impact.

III. ANTICORRUPTION

An essential part of BPIs company policy as well as our Code of Conduct defines that:

- None of the company's employees give or receive unjustified advantages from local or foreign public officials or employees in private companies
- No form of extortion or bribery or favoritism to or from employees or organizations is tolerated

Full or partial neglect of the principles in the overall company policy or the Code of Conduct, or serious violation of local laws and regulations may, in its extreme, cause an interruption of the cooperation with BPI or a dismissal of the employee. The company grew up with this cultural mind set and business attitude, and it has never been necessary to set up a closer or more intensive monitoring or control of individuals or departments. The management is handling this subject with an appropriate and reasonable surveillance.

Outcome

Representing and performing an unambiguous business attitude and track record of being a professional and fair business relation to our customers and cooperation partners.
